

Brain Network Monitoring

Your provider has determined that Brain Network Monitoring (BNM) in our EEG program is essential to your treatment plan moving forward.

- Our BNM program is used by your provider to determine what to do next in your treatment plan. BNM is recommended because your provider is unsure what option is best for you, and the BNM assists in determining what the next step will be.
- Our providers find that the BNM information changes the treatment plan of a patient over 50% of the time. This information is vital for your provider to decide the best next steps in your treatment.
- The BNM is 100% safe, with no side effects.

In addition to providing information about the health of your brain, the BNM may also provide information on how your interactions with others may be impacting your mood, how work performance could be improved, and how to improve communication in your relationships.

At your next office visit your provider will review the results of your BNM, and you will receive functional maps of your brain like the one below:
